

A Slice of Life:

A panel discussion featuring African American families with deep roots in Hopewell Valley.

Saturday, February 4
1:00 pm

Moderated by Catherine Fulmer-Hogan

In person at the Hopewell Valley Central
High School Media Center
259 Pennington-Titusville Rd.
Pennington, NJ

This event is free and open to all!

Honoring Black History Month

Please join us for A Slice of Life: A panel discussion featuring African American families with deep roots in Hopewell Valley.

This is a great opportunity to hear about our local history from residents who were often marginalized but led wonderful lives and built a powerful community in spite of it.

Moderator, Catherine Fulmer-Hogan is the current President of Stoutsburg Sourland African American Museum (SSAAM), board member of the Hopewell Museum and Founder and Chair of Hopewell Valley Heritage Week.

Attend the event in person. The event is free and open to the public – no registration is required. Please visit hopewellvalleyhistory.org for more information.

Photos are courtesy of Beverly Mills, Elaine Buck & First Baptist Church of Pennington.

This program is brought to you by The Hopewell Valley Historical Society, and the Hopewell Museum.

